1 The Last Plank

Leo wanted to win the model-bridge contest alone. When his bridge sagged, he hid it behind his backpack. Across the table, Nia tested a triangle-shaped support. Leo watched her bridge hold three books. His own held only one. At last he asked how her support worked. Nia explained, then asked Leo to help her straighten a crooked joint. They tested each bridge again. Neither student won first prize, but both bridges held five books. Leo left his backpack under the table and carried his bridge where everyone could see it.
